POTENTIAL

STRENGTHS AND COMPETENCIES FOR LEADERSHIP

Report for: John Score-Average

ID: UH555944

Date: 11.08.2016

INTRODUCTION

The Leadership Forecast Potential Report describes your strengths and developmental needs as a manager and executive. The report is based on the Hogan Personality Inventory (HPI), and is organized in terms of seven dimensions; each dimension addresses a different component of leadership performance. Leadership concerns building and maintaining a high-performing team, while getting people to forego individual goals to take on group goals.

Page 3 defines the dimensions of the HPI; once again, this report is organized in terms of these seven dimensions.

Page 4 presents your HPI profile. The pages following the profile describe the behavioral and leadership implications of your scores on each HPI dimension. The last section of the report provides developmental recommendations associated with your competencies. This information will be helpful as you move forward in your career.

BACKGROUND

There are some points you should keep in mind while reading this report. First, there is no such thing as a "good" score. There are positive and negative implications for both high and low scores, although certain scores are more important for some competencies than others. Thus, you should interpret your scores in terms of your own career aspirations and goals rather than in absolute terms.

Second, you can change your typical behavior, but change depends on three things. First, you need to know what you want to change. Second, you must decide to change it. And third, you need to know how to change it. The information in this report will be important for any effort toward change and development.

Third, the results in this report are based on leadership research conducted for over 20 years with working adults and leaders. The implications discussed here are intended for professionals and leaders.

Finally, as noted above, the most essential feature of leadership is the ability to build and maintain a high-performing team. The various parts of the report all concern your potential for doing this.

DEFINITIONS

The seven scales of the Leadership Forecast Potential Report are defined as follows:

| | |
|----------------------------------|--|
| ADJUSTMENT | The Adjustment scale reflects the degree to which a person is calm and even tempered or conversely, moody and volatile. High scorers seem confident, resilient, and optimistic. Low scorers seem tense, irritable, and negative. |
| AMBITION | The Ambition scale evaluates the degree to which a person seems leaderlike, seeks status, and values achievement. High scorers seem competitive and eager to advance. Low scorers seem unassertive and less interested in advancement. |
| SOCIABILITY | The Sociability scale assesses the degree to which a person appears talkative and socially self-confident. High scorers seem outgoing, colorful, and impulsive, and they dislike working by themselves. Low scorers seem reserved and quiet; they avoid calling attention to themselves and do not mind working alone. |
| INTERPERSONAL SENSITIVITY | The Interpersonal Sensitivity scale reflects social skill, tact, and perceptiveness. High scorers seem friendly, warm, and popular. Low scorers seem independent, frank, and direct. |
| PRUDENCE | The Prudence scale concerns self control and conscientiousness. High scorers seem organized, dependable, and thorough; they follow rules and are easy to supervise. Low scorers seem impulsive and flexible. They tend to resist rules and close supervision; however, they may be creative and spontaneous. |
| INQUISITIVE | The Inquisitive scale reflects the degree to which a person seems curious, adventurous, and imaginative. High scorers tend to be quick-witted and visionary, but they may be easily bored and not pay attention to details. Low scorers tend to be practical, focused, and able to concentrate for long periods. |
| LEARNING APPROACH | The Learning Approach scale reflects the degree to which a person enjoys academic activities and values education as an end in itself. High scorers tend to enjoy reading and studying. Low scorers are less interested in formal education and more interested in hands-on learning on the job. |

LEADERSHIP POTENTIAL PROFILE

Scales

This Report is Valid and Interpretable

ADJUSTMENT

Concerns composure, optimism, and stable moods.

BEHAVIORAL IMPLICATIONS

Leaders with similar scores tend to:

- Admit their shortcomings and try to fix them
- Remember their mistakes
- Seem driven and intense
- Take criticism personally
- Have a sense of urgency

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

Compared to other leaders, your scores suggest that you approach your work with passion and intensity and care deeply about performing well. In addition, you may be easily annoyed with unexpected delays and staff mistakes. On the other hand, you understand when your staff is stressed, you can admit your mistakes, listen to feedback and coaching, and try to improve your performance.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

COMPOSURE: You may seem tense or edgy when under pressure, when faced with deadlines, or when others make mistakes, and this, in turn, could affect your team's concentration.

LISTENING: When you are facing deadlines or heavy work pressure, you may tend to stop communicating and listen only for bad news. You can relieve some pressure by planning and delegating before a job starts.

LEARNING AND PERSONAL COACHABILITY: You are open to feedback and interested in improving your performance; however, you may tend to pay more attention to the negative than to the positive feedback.

BUILDING RELATIONSHIPS: Your occasional moodiness, unpredictability, negativism, and tendency to worry can impede your ability to build trusting alliances.

STRESS MANAGEMENT: You tend to be self-critical and intense. You need to learn to be kinder to yourself.

ADJUSTMENT

DEVELOPMENTAL RECOMMENDATIONS

COMPOSURE:

- Because unexpected events may bother you, plan for the interruptions, delays, and difficult people that you may encounter. Doing so will help you stay focused and composed.
- Realize that others may not react the way you think they will. When this happens, have alternative responses ready. Mentally rehearse what is likely to occur and how you would ideally respond. This will help you maintain your composure when unpleasant surprises occur.
- When things don't go as you planned, carefully review what happened. Identify ways to prevent these problems from occurring in the future.

LISTENING:

- When you are annoyed, try to take a break or think about something else. Resist the tendency to be defensive, and don't take feedback personally.
- Try to understand that others will make honest mistakes while they are learning; find some good news in the information your staff provides you, and applaud it..

LEARNING AND PERSONAL COACHABILITY:

- Give yourself credit for the things you do well and note the areas in which you need to improve. Document your strengths and those areas in which you need to improve. Create an action plan that capitalizes on your strengths while allowing you to work on your developmental needs.

BUILDING RELATIONSHIPS:

- If you find yourself being critical or negative, try to identify what triggers this behavior and be alert for those circumstances in the future.
- Remember that, as a leader, part of your job involves leading by example and staying positive.
- Ask a trusted colleague for feedback regarding your behavior. Talk to him or her about how you might improve your performance.

STRESS MANAGEMENT:

- Identify the situations in which you become irritated or upset, and develop plans to deal with them.
- Do not let troublesome issues fester until they erupt. Instead, discuss them and ask for help from others to resolve them.

AMBITION

Concerns taking initiative, being competitive, and seeking leadership roles.

BEHAVIORAL IMPLICATIONS

Leaders with similar scores tend to:

- Let others take charge
 - Prefer to finesse rather than confront others
 - Have a flexible agenda
 - Be reluctant to speak in public
 - Avoid difficult challenges on which they may not succeed

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

Compared to other leaders, your scores suggest that you tend to take a low profile and support the useful initiatives of others. As a result, you may be reluctant to exert influence in areas where you could make an impact. Because you tend not to seek leadership roles directly, your career advancement may depend more on your technical competence than your political ability.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

ACTION ORIENTATION: You are low-keyed and prefer to let others get out in front on new initiatives.

CAREER ADVANCEMENT: Generally speaking, you are not interested in playing politics in order to advance professionally, and you seem content with the career opportunities that come up naturally.

INITIATIVE: Others understand that you will collaborate rather than try to take charge in a crisis situation. You follow leads and suggestions rather than handing them off to others.

ACHIEVING RESULTS: You seem to be more concerned about work processes than work products. Be sure to persevere with tasks and projects until they are completed.

DECISION MAKING: You may prefer to let others make tough decisions, especially when all the information is not available and the stakes are high.

AMBITION

DEVELOPMENTAL RECOMMENDATIONS

ACTION ORIENTATION:

- As a leader, try to create energy in your work group, establish goals, share your team's progress with others, and hold regular performance reviews with staff.
- Volunteer for specific projects that make use of your knowledge and skills.
- Find a challenging project and break it down into definable action steps (a trusted colleague can help here). Identify the first three steps of the project, as well as timeline. Inform others of your project and ask them to hold you accountable.

CAREER ADVANCEMENT:

- Understand that politics are part of organizational life, and the better you understand them, the more likely you will be in advancing your career.
- As a leader, others count on you to be their advocate within the organization. If you avoid office politics, you may not represent your staff adequately. Ask a trusted friend or colleague for advice on this issue.
- If you want to advance within your organization, you will need to develop a plan. The plan should involve identifying the position(s) in your organization to which you aspire, and defining the steps needed to get there.

INITIATIVE:

- You seem to be a good team player, on whom others can rely. While participating, be alert for ways to improve the team's performance, and make your position known.
- Taking initiative is an important part of leadership. If others think you don't display initiative, ask them why. Consult a friend for feedback to help you take more initiative in the future.

ACHIEVING RESULTS:

- Be aware of the needs of your internal customers. Let them know that you understand their issues, and commit to a specific plan of action to resolve these issues.
- Determine the amount of time required to complete assigned tasks, and clearly communicate this time frame to internal customers, peers, and superiors. Remember to update others regularly on progress.
- As a leader, you set the tone for your work group. If you convey the message that timely results are not important--even if it is unintended--your team members will behave accordingly.

DECISION MAKING:

- Making tough decisions is an important part of leadership. Discuss with your boss which decisions should be made jointly, by you alone, or by others. Having clear guidelines on your decision responsibilities will give you more confidence.
- Determine what information you need to make a decision (e.g., cost estimates, manpower needs, cost/benefit analyses, P&L impact, risk evaluation, etc.). Once you have this information, make your decision, understanding that you can revise it later.
- Find someone with whom you can discuss important decisions. Think through your decision, and then share your reasoning with this person. Use this experience to build confidence in your decisions.

SOCIABILITY

Concerns seeming talkative, socially bold, and entertaining.

BEHAVIORAL IMPLICATIONS

Leaders with similar scores tend to:

- Seem approachable, not distant
 - Be comfortable either working alone or with others
 - Prefer formal rather than casual meetings
 - Provide staff relevant feedback
 - Balance listening with talking

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

Compared to other leaders, your scores suggest that you are flexible with your time, and don't mind working either alone or as part of a team. You meet the public well, but you don't need to be the center of attention or constantly on stage.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

INITIATING INTERACTIONS: You are able to initiate and build good relations with others in your organization, including people you don't already know.

ENERGY: Others see you as having appropriate energy and enthusiasm for new people and projects.

APPROACHABILITY: Your ability to initiate interactions with new people is an important skill for leaders. Continue developing contacts in the organization, and include your staff in the interactions.

INTERPERSONAL NETWORK: Your networking skills are sufficient to keep you in touch with the organization.

TEAM ORIENTATION: Others see you as participating appropriately in team tasks.

SOCIABILITY

DEVELOPMENTAL RECOMMENDATIONS

INITIATING INTERACTIONS:

- Be sure to talk with each member of your staff everyday in his/her work place.

ENERGY:

- You seem to be an active person who can energize the work group, which is an important quality for leaders. Maintain your energy during interactions, particularly if you tend to become bored or disengaged.

APPROACHABILITY:

- Make sure that you are accessible to all members of your team, and that you don't unconsciously "play favorites" with some team members.

INTERPERSONAL NETWORK:

- Be sure that your network covers the relevant portions of your organization.
- Even though you may have a good organizational network, try to establish a relationship with at least one new department or work unit each quarter.
- Recognize that your network is changing, and that it needs to be nurtured to be sustained. If you haven't talked to a particular person recently, call him/her. Don't let relationships become stagnant or distant.

TEAM ORIENTATION:

- You seem to be comfortable either working as part of a team or by yourself. This balance is healthy because some tasks are best done as part of a team, while others are best done individually.

INTERPERSONAL SENSITIVITY

Concerns being agreeable, considerate and skilled at maintaining relationships.

BEHAVIORAL IMPLICATIONS

Leaders with similar scores tend to:

- Be easy going
- Consider others' opinions seriously
- Deliver what they promise
- Provide staff with structure and consideration
- Confront problems promptly

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

Compared to other leaders, your scores suggest that you are a pleasant and tolerant person who, nonetheless, is willing to take a stand when necessary. Others will see you as accommodating and congenial; consequently, you need to convey that you are not a pushover.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

COMPASSION: You seem appropriately concerned about the welfare of your staff and alert to changes in their morale.

COOPERATION: You are normally cooperative and a sensible team player. You probably encourage your staff to collaborate and work as a team.

SEEKING INPUT: You seem willing to listen to feedback about your performance, but you may tend to take negative comments too personally.

CONFRONTING SUBORDINATES: You are a generally tolerant person, but you are willing to confront people when it is clear that it must be done.

STANDING ALONE: Although you understand the importance of consensus, you will take a stand on issues involving key values and principles.

INTERPERSONAL SENSITIVITY

DEVELOPMENTAL RECOMMENDATIONS

COMPASSION:

- Pay attention to your team's work environment, and let them know that you are concerned about their morale.
- You probably strike a balance between work-related and people-related concerns. This ability will allow you to maximize the performance of your team.

COOPERATION:

- You do a good job of getting others to work together, and you know when to work with others on group tasks. This skill is important; look for opportunities to use it in the future.

SEEKING INPUT:

- Don't be defensive about negative feedback.
- Continue to seek feedback; identify people who you trust, and solicit their comments.

CONFRONTING SUBORDINATES:

- Be sure to address problem issues promptly; do not wait until a crisis occurs before acting.

STANDING ALONE:

- You don't seek out confrontations, but you are willing to stand up for your team especially when representing them to the larger organization.

PRUDENCE

Concerns being conscientious, dependable, and rule-abiding.

BEHAVIORAL IMPLICATIONS

Leaders with similar scores tend to:

- Be orderly and dependable
- Be able to adjust to change
- Strike a good balance between speed and accuracy
- Plan and maintain schedules appropriately
- Delegate responsibly

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

Compared to other leaders, your scores suggest that you are reasonably conscientious and careful about following procedures. However, you also seem to be able to change directions and be flexible when necessary.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

HANDLING AMBIGUITY: You seem able to work without constant guidance or direction. You seem willing to weigh the pros and cons of an ambiguous issue and make a decision rather than asking your boss for guidance.

FLEXIBILITY: You tend to be willing to change and adapt new methods for doing things, especially if you are given a sound argument.

PLANNING: You understand how to balance the benefits of following a plan with the benefits of changing the plan to improve the process. You know that rules are necessary, but you are not rigid about following them.

ATTENTION TO DETAIL AND TIMELINES: Although you respect project requirements and deadlines, you seem willing to delegate work as long as others maintain quality and adhere to timelines.

RULE ORIENTATION: You understand the importance of rules in an organization, and you are comfortable working within them.

PRUDENCE

DEVELOPMENTAL RECOMMENDATIONS

HANDLING AMBIGUITY:

- As a leader, you probably maintain a balance between being planful and organized and being able to act when there are no guidelines. You can be a role model for others in this area.

FLEXIBILITY:

- Although you are normally well-organized and careful, you are able to incorporate last-minute changes. As a leader, you should serve as a mentor or coach to others who seem to be inflexible in their planning.

PLANNING:

- As a leader, your staff appreciates how you develop and adhere to plans and schedules, and they know you will be able to adapt to necessary changes. Encourage and involve your staff in planning efforts.

ATTENTION TO DETAIL AND TIMELINES:

- As a leader, you probably balance a big picture view of your work team (strategizing, planning) with an understanding of how the people in your unit actually do their work. Continue to maintain this balanced approach.
- Others enjoy the autonomy you give them. Continue to do this without sacrificing accountability.

RULE ORIENTATION:

- You normally follow the important rules of the organization, while being flexible about the less important rules. This balance is healthy, but remember that others look to you to set an example. Be careful not to create a department full of rule breakers, who are simply following your lead.

INQUISITIVE

Concerns being curious, imaginative, visionary, and easily bored.

BEHAVIORAL IMPLICATIONS

Leaders with similar scores tend to:

- Be flexible problem solvers
 - Have interests outside business
 - Be willing to speculate about business scenarios
 - Have a normal degree of imagination
 - Understand practical as well as technological solutions

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

Compared to other leaders, your scores suggest that you are open-minded and curious, but have a practical turn of mind for problem solving, and can stay on task without getting bored.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

CREATIVITY: You seem able to balance a preference for established problem solving procedures with an openness to innovative methods.

MANAGING INNOVATION: You may not promote new ideas, but you are appropriately receptive to new ideas that seem useful.

CURIOSITY: You seem to maintain a balance between focusing on your current work while remaining alert for new sources of information that might be useful for completing that work.

VISION: You seem adequately concerned about the big picture.

PROBLEM SOLVING: You seem comfortable solving problems in a standard manner, or using innovative methods to get the job done.

INQUISITIVE

DEVELOPMENTAL RECOMMENDATIONS

CREATIVITY:

- You probably perform equally well in situations that require practical problem solving and in situations that require new approaches. Your team members may not be as balanced as you are. Work to develop your subordinates so that they understand when innovation is useful.

MANAGING INNOVATION:

- Support new ideas that make sense, and encourage your work group to brainstorm and be creative. Identify a role model inside the organization who is successful at introducing new ideas and learn some techniques for conducting focus groups.

CURIOSITY:

- You probably ask questions to increase your knowledge of new technologies, developments, and so forth. Continue doing this, and encourage the same from your work group.

VISION:

- You may tend to favor concrete goals to "big picture" concerns, but you understand both. As a leader, you should combine task orientation with a vision of the future.
- Your team members need to know your vision for the team and the organization. If you have not conveyed it, begin doing so now. The corporate mission statement is a good place to start. Consult others who are seen as understanding the big picture.

PROBLEM SOLVING:

- Think about which types of problem solving activities most appeal to you (i.e., practical vs. big picture), and choose work assignments that complement your strengths. Alternately, if your current job requires one style of problem solving, and you feel that it is time for a change, then consider assignments that will allow you to use more of your preferred thinking skills.

LEARNING APPROACH

Concerns enjoying formal education and actively staying up-to-date on business and technical matters.

BEHAVIORAL IMPLICATIONS

Leaders with similar scores tend to:

- Prefer hands-on learning over traditional educational instruction
 - Be more concerned with improving existing skills than acquiring new ones
 - Make sure others are on board before taking action
 - Ignore training opportunities for their staff
 - Not spend much time reading, especially technical material

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

Compared to other leaders, your scores suggest that you are only moderately interested in education for its own sake. You want it to have a pragmatic payoff--that is, you tend to see training as a means to an end rather than an end in itself. You may be interested more in solving today's problems than getting ready for problems of the future.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

STAYING CURRENT: If you put off training activities because of your demanding schedule, you may not use new technology efficiently or understand how it can impact your business.

LEARNING QUICKLY: You seem willing to learn new techniques and procedures, but often when it becomes clear that you have no alternatives.

LEARNING STYLE: You seem to be a hands-on learner, developing new skills only when you are confronted with a problem.

COMMUNICATING ACCURATELY: Your communication style seems problem-oriented, practical, and to the point. Others will appreciate your clarity and patience when explaining things.

INTELLECTUAL MOTIVATION: You seem interested in learning when there is a clear payoff for having the information.

LEARNING APPROACH

DEVELOPMENTAL RECOMMENDATIONS

STAYING CURRENT:

- Begin a program of reading topical publications (i.e., Business Week, Fortune, Wall Street Journal, Harvard Business Review). If you are unsure of what to read, ask someone who seems up-to-date for suggestions.
- Use the Internet to help you keep up on new developments in the business world.

LEARNING QUICKLY:

- Remind yourself to keep up with new business techniques, including computer applications and software. It is easy to become outdated if you don't continually try to stay up to date.
- As a leader, you set the tone for your work team. If you are not improving your skills, they are less likely to enhance theirs.

LEARNING STYLE:

- You may not enjoy courses and seminars, but they can help make you a stronger leader. Many topics cannot be taught in a hands-on manner, particularly the skills and perspective that leaders are expected to demonstrate.
- Establish a learning environment in your work group by identifying one or two seminars that would be of value to you and your staff. Attend these seminars, and then discuss them with your staff.

COMMUNICATING ACCURATELY:

- As a leader, encourage your staff to ask you about written memos that they find unclear. It's better to spend some time up front discussing the memo rather than spending more time later correcting mistakes that resulted from the misunderstanding.

INTELLECTUAL MOTIVATION:

- You may enjoy learning practical skills which can be applied immediately to your job, but you also need to learn more abstract skills to enhance your performance as a leader and manager. Leadership and management seminars can broaden your perspective, and improve judgment and decision-making skills.

CHALLENGE

DERAILERS AND PERSONALITY- BASED PERFORMANCE RISKS

Report for: John Score-Average

ID: UH555944

Date: 11.08.2016

INTRODUCTION

The Leadership Forecast Challenge Report is designed to help you develop as a leader. It will provide insights about your behavior that could potentially undermine or inhibit your performance. It then offers suggestions for leading people more effectively.

Leadership involves building and maintaining a high-performing team. Anything that detracts from your ability to build a team also detracts from your performance as a leader.

This report is based on the Hogan Development Survey (HDS). The results are based on our global leadership research, and are written for professionals and leaders.

BACKGROUND

When under pressure, most people will display certain counterproductive tendencies. We refer to these as "risk factors." Under normal conditions these characteristics may actually be strengths. However, when you are tired, pressured, bored, or otherwise distracted, these risk factors may impede your effectiveness and erode the quality of your relationships with customers, colleagues, and direct reports. Others may be aware of these tendencies but may not give you any feedback about them. Your boss may even ignore them.

This report is divided into three sections. First, there is a graphic representation of your profile. Second, you will find a scale-by-scale interpretation of your scores. Scores between the 90th and 100th percentile are in the High Risk Zone, scores between the 70th and 89th percentiles are in the Moderate Risk Zone, scores between the 40th and 69th percentile are in the Low Risk Zone and scores between the 0 to 39th percentile are in the No Risk Zone. The third section provides developmental recommendations for areas where you scored in the Moderate and/or High Risk Zones. No developmental recommendations are provided for scores in the No Risk and Low Risk Zones.

HOW DO RISK FACTORS DEVELOP?

Research indicates that leaders develop risk factors while learning to deal with parents, peers, relatives and others early in life. Behavior developed while you were young may become habitual and you may be unaware that you behave in certain ways.

INTRODUCTION

WAYS TO USE THIS INFORMATION

First, read the report carefully and decide which developmental suggestions apply to you. Mark those items with a plus (+), and put a minus (-) by those items to which you cannot relate. Second, invite feedback from peers, direct reports, and even family. Discuss your insights with them, and ask for reactions. A key ingredient for developing new leadership skills is enlisting the support of your direct reports, peers, and boss. Finally, study the developmental suggestions provided at the end of the report. These suggestions are offered for scores in the Moderate or High Risk Zones (i.e., scores at or above the 70th percentile).

DEFINITIONS

The eleven scales for the Leadership Forecast Challenge Report are defined below.

Excitable Concerns being overly enthusiastic about people or projects, and then becoming disappointed with them. Result: seems to lack persistence.

Skeptical Concerns being socially insightful, but cynical and overly sensitive to criticism. Result: seems to lack trust.

Cautious Concerns being overly worried about being criticized. Result: seems resistant to change and reluctant to take chances.

Reserved Concerns lacking interest in or awareness of the feelings of others. Result: seems to be a poor communicator.

Leisurely Concerns being independent, ignoring others' requests, and becoming irritable if they persist. Result: seems stubborn, procrastinating, and uncooperative.

Bold Concerns having inflated views of one's competency and worth. Result: seems unable to admit mistakes or learn from experience.

Mischievous Concerns being charming, risk-taking, and excitement-seeking. Result: seems to have trouble maintaining commitments and learning from experience.

Colorful Concerns being dramatic, engaging, and attention-seeking. Result: seems preoccupied with being noticed and may lack sustained focus.

Imaginative Concerns thinking and acting in interesting, unusual, and even eccentric ways. Result: seems creative but possibly lacking in judgment.

Diligent Concerns being conscientious, perfectionistic, and hard to please. Result: tends to disempower staff.

Dutiful Concerns being eager to please and reluctant to act independently. Result: tends to be pleasant and agreeable, but reluctant to support subordinates.

LEADERSHIP CHALLENGE PROFILE

Scales

EXCITABLE

Concerns being overly enthusiastic about people or projects, and then becoming disappointed with them.

LOW RISK

BEHAVIORAL IMPLICATIONS

You scored in the LOW RISK ZONE on this scale. Leaders with similar scores:

- Usually seem in a good mood.
 - Handle frustration without getting upset.
 - Usually seem enthusiastic.
 - Usually seem calm in emergencies.
 - Rarely get angry with others.

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

Your composed and steady demeanor will enhance your ability to maintain relationships and manage others. Your steadiness should also be an asset in fast paced environments. Your optimism and emotional maturity should facilitate your ability to manage your career, gain the support of others, and motivate them to produce results. You have no leadership development issues in this area.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

COMPOSURE Your team will appreciate your even temper, your predictable and calming influence in situations, and your tendency to hold things together in stressful times.

FAIRNESS TO OTHERS As a leader, you won't tend to get down on people, and your staff will respond to your even-handed treatment.

PERSEVERANCE As a leader, your coworkers will appreciate your persistence and ability to complete projects regardless of frustrations, roadblocks, and challenges. You are not likely to give up when the going gets tough, but to keep working until the job is done.

SKEPTICAL

Concerns being socially insightful, but cynical and overly sensitive to criticism.

MODERATE RISK

BEHAVIORAL IMPLICATIONS

You scored in the MODERATE RISK ZONE on this scale. Leaders with similar scores:

- Seem insightful about others' motives and about office politics.
- Take criticism personally.
- Tend to hold grudges.
- Can be argumentative.
- Can be hard to coach.

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

You are good at evaluating the talents and motives of others and this is a potentially valuable leadership skill. However, your skepticism regarding others' intentions may inhibit your ability to build and maintain relationships. People may perceive you as argumentative, and the feedback you provide subordinates may focus on their flaws, which could affect your impact. Your business strategy may tend to reflect a 'worst case scenario' and you may plan your career from a similar perspective.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

INFLUENCING AND PERSUADING OTHERS At times, you may seem suspicious and spend more time thinking about politics than core business issues. As a result, others may find you hard to deal with and it may be difficult for you to persuade them to cooperate with you.

OPENNESS TO IDEAS When presented with new ideas or suggestions, you tend to raise doubts and to bring the underlying political issues to the surface. At times this could cause you to seem resistant to new ideas. Others may see you as being better at identifying problems than finding alternative solutions.

OBJECTIVITY On certain issues, you may seem somewhat inflexible and set in your views. Others may not realize that you have reasons for your views and that you can be objective and see things from multiple perspectives.

CAUTIOUS

Concerns being overly worried about being criticized.

MODERATE RISK

BEHAVIORAL IMPLICATIONS

You scored in the MODERATE RISK ZONE on this scale. Leaders with similar scores:

- Seem to make good, low-risk decisions.
 - Tend to need reassurance.
 - May be reluctant to try new technologies.
 - Fret over their mistakes.
 - Worry about their staff's mistakes.

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

Because you dislike making mistakes and being criticized, you may tend to watch your staff closely to ensure that they get things right. Doing so may undermine their confidence. You may also be slow to make decisions, which could frustrate an action-oriented staff. You tend to avoid taking chances, which may prevent you from accepting difficult assignments. You may also manage your career so as to minimize mistakes. As a leader, you may develop a cautious and conservative vision of the future.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

DECISIVENESS Your concern about making good decisions may cause you to gather more information than you need. Ultimately, this could prevent you from making timely decisions.

ACTION ORIENTATION You may tend to avoid taking action when you don't have all of the information. This could slow down processes, especially in times of crisis.

LEADING WITH CONFIDENCE Your concern about making the right decisions is a strength. However, others may see your deliberations as a lack of confidence in your own ability.

RESERVED

Concerns lacking interest in or awareness of the feelings of others.

LOW RISK

BEHAVIORAL IMPLICATIONS

You scored in the LOW RISK ZONE on this scale. Leaders with similar scores:

- Seem socially approachable and concerned about others.
 - Ask questions in order to understand others.
 - Seem considerate of others.
 - Read people quickly.
 - Help out when asked.

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

You seem to be friendly, outgoing, considerate, and tactful. You should be able to build and maintain relationships and motivate your staff, which are important leadership skills. You tend to be a team player and your interpersonal style should make you credible and even popular. You typically work well with a wide range of bosses, and are able to provide others with unbiased and helpful feedback. You should make few mistakes in terms of inadvertently alienating others. You have no leadership development issues in this area.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

MOTIVATING OTHERS Your interpersonal style will allow you to build relationships with others, which will enhance your effectiveness in the organization.

RELATIONSHIP BUILDING You will be good at picking up social cues, understanding the social impact of different responses, and building rapport with peers, subordinates, and others.

APPROACHABILITY You tend to be outgoing, accessible, and approachable, even when under stress and heavy work loads.

LEISURELY

Concerns being charming, but independent, stubborn, and hard to coach.

LOW RISK

BEHAVIORAL IMPLICATIONS

You scored in the LOW RISK ZONE on this scale. Leaders with similar scores:

- Seem cooperative and coachable.
 - Respect corporate policy.
 - Seem patient even when interrupted.
 - Help others when they fall behind.
 - Support the management team.

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

Your score on this dimension suggests that you are cooperative and positive, and should be able to coach and develop others. You will work well with a variety of bosses and be responsive to feedback. You have no leadership development issues in this area.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

FOSTERING TEAMWORK You tend to be helpful and understand the importance of working together towards common goals and following through.

COOPERATION AND TIMELY RESULTS Your subordinates will appreciate your efforts to meet commitments and deliver timely results.

BUILDING TRUST Your desire to deliver on commitments and willingness to disagree openly, but respectfully, will make you a trustworthy and dependable leader.

BOLD

Concerns having inflated views of one's competency and worth.

NO RISK

BEHAVIORAL IMPLICATIONS

You scored in the NO RISK ZONE on this scale. Leaders with similar scores:

- Seem modest and unpretentious.
- Seem unlikely to interrupt, criticize, or challenge others.
- Avoid self-promotion.
- Accept responsibility for failures and mistakes.
- Lack a sense of entitlement.

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

You have a modest and unpretentious style and you should work well with a variety of bosses. You have a realistic view of your competence and importance, which will enhance your credibility. You may be reluctant to give others feedback on their poor performance, but probably would do so when asked. Your career plans may not be very aggressive, and you may be reluctant to nominate yourself for a key role in the future of the business, preferring to wait for others to notice your contributions. You have no leadership development issues in this area.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

SEEING PERSPECTIVE Although you have ideas about how to develop new business, you may not promote them with sufficient vigor.

PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT You will listen to feedback and be willing to ask others (peers, stakeholders, etc.) for evaluations of your performance. This openness will facilitate your development.

DRIVE FOR RESULTS Your natural modesty and self-restraint may cause you to hold back and to set your aspiration level too low.

MISCHIEVOUS

Concerns being charming, risk-taking, and excitement-seeking.

NO RISK

BEHAVIORAL IMPLICATIONS

You scored in the NO RISK ZONE on this scale. Leaders with similar scores:

- Seem careful, responsible, and socially appropriate.
- Learn from their mistakes.
- Communicate respectfully.
- Follow corporate rules.
- Avoid taking unnecessary risks.

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

Your tendency to avoid unnecessary risks and play by the rules will make you a valued corporate citizen. Your boss will appreciate your dependability and trust you to think through the consequences of proposed actions. You are somewhat cautious by nature and you will make few mistakes in managing your career, however, you may not take many chances. When formulating business strategy, you will remember past mistakes and try to minimize risk. You have no leadership development issues in this area.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

DECISION QUALITY You are a self-controlled and socially appropriate person and you care about the consequences of your actions. You learn from personal experiences and others' advice.

RISK TAKING You will not take on high-risk or speculative projects without carefully considering them and formulating a plan of action. At the same time, you may tend to avoid taking appropriate risks when necessary. Your natural cautiousness could cause you to miss opportunities to enhance your career.

LEARNING FROM EXPERIENCE You take responsibility for the consequences of your actions. You reflect on earlier outcomes as guides to future decisions and behavior. You may be reluctant to take action in situations where you have no experience from which to draw.

COLORFUL

Concerns being dramatic, engaging, and attention-seeking.

LOW RISK

BEHAVIORAL IMPLICATIONS

You scored in the LOW RISK ZONE on this scale. Leaders with similar scores:

- Seem unpretentious and socially appropriate.
- Do not seek the limelight.
- Support the performance of others.
- Seem to be good followers.
- Do not take themselves too seriously.

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

You don't need to be the center of attention and prefer to let your actions speak for themselves. You will manage with a light-touch and share credit with your staff. You should work well with a variety of bosses, who will like your willingness to share credit. However, your career may not advance as rapidly as your talent would suggest because of your reluctance to engage in self promotion. You have no leadership development issues in this area.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

CELEBRATING SUCCESS You seem willing to support your subordinates, and you don't compete with them. More importantly, you are willing to share credit for success.

BUILDING MORALE Your personal modesty may make you reluctant to promote the accomplishments of your team. Your subordinates can only gain attention through your promotion of their achievements.

SELF-DEVELOPMENT You may not aggressively seek developmental opportunities for yourself and your staff. Without you finding learning experiences, the productivity of the group may diminish. Progress depends on learning and you are responsible for obtaining resources for team development.

IMAGINATIVE

Concerns thinking and acting in interesting, unusual, and even eccentric ways.

LOW RISK

BEHAVIORAL IMPLICATIONS

You scored in the LOW RISK ZONE on this scale. Leaders with similar scores:

- Make sensible decisions.
 - Communicate intelligibly.
 - Have reasonably creative ideas.
 - Behave in a socially appropriate manner.

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

Your staff will appreciate the fact that you are practical and down to earth, and that you prefer to minimize surprises and crises. Your advice to coworkers will be sensible and practical. You are not necessarily a strategic or visionary planner, but you should be popular with a wide range of bosses because you are level-headed and dependable. You will plan your career in a sensible manner. You have no leadership development issues in this area.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

PROVIDING CLEAR DIRECTION You should communicate intelligibly no matter what the circumstances might be.

CREATIVITY You should be able to provide sensible solutions to problems even when you are pressured. In addition, you will be a good resource for evaluating the plausibility of ideas.

STAYING FOCUSED You should be able to stay focused on the relevant problems and issues, even in the midst of distractions.

DILIGENT

Concerns being conscientious, perfectionistic, and hard to please.

NO RISK

BEHAVIORAL IMPLICATIONS

You scored in the NO RISK ZONE on this scale. Leaders with similar scores:

- Seem undemanding and relaxed about rules.
- Do not micromanage their staff.
- Routinely delegate tasks.
- Tend to be flexible.
- Prioritize tasks appropriately.

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

You seem relatively relaxed and undemanding, and your tolerance and willingness to delegate should make you popular with your subordinates. This is because they sense that they are trusted. In addition, your delegating will give your staff opportunities to learn. Bosses like your tolerant, flexible, and forbearing attitude, but may wish you would pay more attention to the details of the business. You have no leadership development issues in this area.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

DEALING WITH AMBIGUITY You seem able to remain flexible and keep your options open, even when you are being pressured for results.

ADAPTABILITY You seem able to adapt to changing circumstances and priorities.

DELEGATING DOWNWARD You tend to delegate problem-solving authority to the appropriate level, even though the pressure to solve the problem may be intense.

DUTIFUL

Concerns being eager to please and reluctant to act independently.

MODERATE RISK

BEHAVIORAL IMPLICATIONS

You scored in the MODERATE RISK ZONE on this scale. Leaders with similar scores:

- Are agreeable, pleasant, and cooperative.
- Seem eager to please.
- Keep their boss informed.
- Seem to always support corporate policy.
- Are good team players.

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

You are a pleasant and accommodating person who does not like controversy. As a leader, you will be polite and attentive, but you may be reluctant to push or advocate on behalf of your staff. You are a good team player who works well with a variety of bosses; they will appreciate your loyal and cooperative attitude. You will seek advice and assistance for managing your career, and will be reluctant to make decisions without first consulting others.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

CONFRONTING CONFLICT You probably prefer to avoid conflict and confrontations and may be uncomfortable giving others negative feedback.

ACTING INDEPENDENTLY You may not make your views known on important and/or controversial issues and instead go along with the group.

SUPPORTING YOUR STAFF You may focus more on getting along with your boss than getting along with your staff, which can erode your credibility with your subordinates.

DEVELOPMENTAL RECOMMENDATIONS

The following developmental recommendations concern the dimensions where your score was in the MODERATE or HIGH RISK ZONE.

SKEPTICAL - MODERATE RISK

- When you are at your best, you are a perceptive and insightful judge of people and you have a superior understanding of organizational politics. You are a good resource for identifying potential hidden agendas and for analyzing and solving social and political problems.
- You will tend to distrust your coach; you should suspend judgment and give your coach a chance to try to help you. The same is true for others who care about you--you need to make an extra effort to appreciate what they are telling you and why.
- Be careful how you communicate with others. When you believe you are expressing honest opinions, others may see you as being argumentative. Be open to other points of view.
- You should try to be less critical and judgmental. Tell a trusted friend that you are trying to become more tolerant. Ask him/her to tell you when you are being excessively critical, defensive, or sensitive--and listen to his/her feedback.

DUTIFUL - MODERATE RISK

- You are a cooperative, congenial person who works well as part of a team. You are good at resolving disputes and soothing ruffled feelings, and you are a loyal supporter of good people and admirable causes.
- Remember that if you want your staff to be loyal to you, then you must be loyal to them, even if that means sometimes annoying superiors.
- When asked for your opinion, take your time, decide what you believe, and be prepared to defend it when challenged.
- Although you dislike conflict, there will be times when you must confront others and disagree with them. In the long run, your credibility depends on doing this.

VALUES

CORE VALUES AND MOTIVATORS FOR LEADERSHIP ROLES

Report for: John Score-Average

ID: UH555944

Date: 11.08.2016

Introduction

The Leadership Forecast Values Report describes your core values and goals and how they can affect your career. Values are an essential part of your identity—they describe who you are, what you stand for, and the environments in which you will flourish. Values powerfully shape the choices that you will make about work, play, and relationships; they will impact your career in four ways.

- 1. Drivers: Your values are your key drivers—the things in life that motivate you. Values determine your aspirations and symbolize what you strive for and hope to attain. Your values define what you desire in your work and life.
- 2. Fit.: Your values determine how well you will fit with any organizational culture. Organizational cultures typically reflect the values of senior management. People are happy and productive in cultures that are consistent with their values, and they are distressed and unhappy working in cultures defined by values that differ from their own.
- 3. Leadership Style and Culture: Your values reflect what you find rewarding and pay attention to or what you dislike and avoid. Thus, your values define the behavior that you like and reward and the behavior that you ignore or dislike. Consequently, your values shape the kind of culture that you, as a leader, will create for your staff and subordinates.
- 4. Unconscious Biases: Values influence the decisions you make—about people, projects, plans, and strategy. Values filter perceptions of experience, especially about what is desirable or undesirable, good or bad. Values typically operate outside conscious awareness and bias both thought and action.

Ways to Use this Information.

As you review this report, you may find that your values are inconsistent with your career or the demands placed on you by your role in your current organization. In addition, your day-to-day behavior may not help, and sometimes may even hinder, your ability to realize your career goals. You should not try to change your values if they don't fit with your career or organization. Rather, by becoming aware of your values and unconscious biases, you can begin to adapt your behavior in ways that will create a more productive working situation for yourself and your team.

This report is based on your scores on the Motives, Values, Preferences Inventory (MVPI). The report summarizes your key drivers, the kind of culture you will create as a leader, the organizational cultures that you will prefer (or should try to avoid), the factors that may unconsciously bias your decision making, and possible strategies for minimizing your biases and leading productively.

Ways to Use this Information.

The next page defines the ten MVPI scales and the following page presents a graphic representation of your values profile. This is followed by the report, which describes the meaning and implications of your score on each scale along the dimensions described above. Finally, the end of this report contains values-based development suggestions designed to help you to increase your leadership effectiveness. Please note that scores between the 65th and 100th percentile are considered high and represent goals towards which you strive on a daily basis. The higher the score, the more important a value or driver is to you in your work and personal life. Scores between the 36th and 64th percentile are average and represent values that are of mixed importance to you. In this range, you may find values that are pleasure points in your life or values where you are fairly indifferent. Scores between the 0 and 35th percentile are considered low and represent values that are not core drivers for you. The lower your score on a dimension in this report, the higher the likelihood that you are indifferent to that value.

High and low scores on every scale have important implications for careers.

The information in this report will help you better understand yourself and your values-driven tendencies. Armed with this information, you can capitalize on your strengths and minimize your tactical miscues. You can become more aware of the culture that you create and use this information to interact more successfully with others in your organization. In a competitive business environment, self-awareness and effective self-regulation are important assets that will allow you to become a more successful leader.

AESTHETICS

Focusing on innovation, style, and appearance.

Drivers

You tend to be personally motivated by a desire to:

- Make decisions based on established facts
 - Deliver practical and workable solutions
 - Translate vague ideas into practical reality
 - Avoid seeming weak and indecisive
 - Emphasize substance over style

Fit

You should be most comfortable working in environments that:

- Are procedural and organized
- Work with tangible products and goals
- Are practical and action-oriented
- Have a traditional masculine orientation

And you tend to dislike environments that:

- Are so fraught with emotion that nothing gets done
 - Use style to obscure practicality

Leadership Style and Culture

As a leader, the culture you create tends to:

- Mistrust emotion and sentiment
 - Emphasize functionality and minimize frills
 - Minimize concern with design issues
 - Make decisions based on facts rather than feelings
 - Focus on outcomes over process

Unconscious Biases

You may not be aware of the following aspects of your leadership style:

- You may not be especially interested in marketing issues
 - You may have little interest in why something works
 - You may show only mild concern with staff morale
 - You may tend to avoid speculation and theoretical discussions
 - You may focus on hard facts and prior experience

SCIENCE

Preferring a rational, objective approach to decision-making.

Drivers

You tend to be personally motivated by a desire to:

- Make decisions and move on
 - Pay attention to the practical realities of business and life
 - Be specific, concrete, and functional
 - Trust your gut feelings
 - Avoid becoming overwhelmed by complexity

Fit

You should be most comfortable working in environments that:

- Are pragmatic, practical, and grounded
- Emphasize action over contemplation
- Mistrust hypotheticals
- Focus on what can be done with the resources available

And you tend to dislike environments that:

- Require extensive data-based justification for decisions
 - Are prone to “paralysis by analysis”

Leadership Style and Culture

As a leader, the culture you create tends to:

- Prefer quick and intuitive decision making
 - Favor action over reflection
 - Be practical and tactical
 - Avoid endless discussions of possible solutions

Unconscious Biases

You may not be aware of the following aspects of your leadership style:

- You tend to be impatient with hypothetical problems
 - You may be impatient with overly careful decision-making
 - You may value intuition to solve most problems
 - You tend to emphasize the tactical over the strategic
 - You may desire clarity and simplicity

Development Opportunities

RECOGNITION

- Find ways for your staff and colleagues to gain recognition
- Ask others for feedback regarding your leadership performance
- Be sure to share credit for accomplishments
- Encourage others to share and contribute ideas

POWER

- Share credit when working on a team
- Be realistic about the problems you meet while working on projects
- Recognize that not all projects are competitions
- Solicit ideas and suggestions from others

HEDONISM

- Recognize that your staff may be more productive if you allow them to relax once in a while
- Encourage “brainstorming” and creative problem solving
- Find ways to reduce your need to “take your work home”
- Allow subordinates to personalize their offices or workstations

ALTRUISTIC

- Don’t allow concerns about staff morale to affect your performance standards
- Base decisions on data as well as sentiment
- Make sure your staff understands what you expect of them
- Stay focused on the task at hand while respecting your staff as individuals

AFFILIATION

- Socialize more often with staff and clients—they will appreciate it
- Offer your staff multiple projects and roles; don’t insist that they specialize in their work
- Use work teams to solve the problems that impact them
- Let subordinates know when they have done well and how they can improve

Development Opportunities

TRADITION

- Remember that some people like and need rules
- Show respect for company expectations by staying on schedule for your performance goals
- Remember that not all of your subordinates will be self-motivated; give them clear direction and guidance
- Give your staff specific feedback regarding success and areas for improvement

SECURITY

- Be sure to invite the creative members of your staff to share their ideas
- Are confident enough to base decisions on “gut feelings” as well as data
- Forget about honest mistakes
- Stay alert for new procedures that will allow you to accomplish your team’s mission

COMMERCE

- Make sure you learn to manage work stress effectively
- Ask your staff to contribute ideas for improving productivity
- Be sure that your focus on immediate results doesn’t interfere with long-term performance
- Understand that some of your employees may not respond well to competitive pressure

AESTHETICS

- Think carefully about potential gaps in the marketing effort
- Invite your staff to offer ideas about how to improve morale
- Think about the public image of you and your company
- Discuss with your colleagues possible future strategies for your team and the organization

SCIENCE

- Stay up to date with the innovations in your industry
- Challenge the traditional assumptions guiding your business
- Ask your staff to provide data to support their ideas and recommendations
- Find objective ways to evaluate the productivity of your team

Summary

RESULTS-BASED OVERVIEW OF
STRENGTHS, VALUES, AND
CHALLENGES

Report for: John Score-Average

ID: UH555944

Date: 11.08.2016

INTRODUCTION

This report summarizes Mr. Score-Average's results from the Hogan Personality Inventory (HPI), the Motives, Values, Preferences Inventory (MVPI), and the Hogan Development Survey (HDS). The report is organized in five parts: (1) Performance Strengths from the HPI results; (2) Values and Drivers from the MVPI results; (3) Performance Challenges from the HDS results; (4) Career Development tips from across the assessment results, and (5) a tabular summary of these results.

The HPI concerns Mr. Score-Average's overt strengths as they normally appear in an interview or an assessment center. These characteristics are the basis for the impression he makes on others, and they influence his typical style of social interaction and his reputation among his peers. The MVPI concerns his core values and goals, and the activities that give meaning to his life. These are key drivers—what he desires, strives to attain, and his sense of identity. His values influence his preferences and determine with whom he affiliates and what he appreciates. The HDS concerns behavioral tendencies that could potentially undermine or inhibit Mr. Score-Average's performance. These tendencies emerge when he is tired, pressured, or feeling insecure, or when he lets down his guard. They may impede his effectiveness and erode the quality of his relationships with customers, colleagues, and friends.

These results provide a comprehensive, valid, and in-depth summary of Mr. Score-Average's strengths, values, and challenges. The report is designed to help understand his performance potential, and any barriers to achieving it. While reading this information, please keep in mind three things. First, it is possible that not every statement will accurately describe how he thinks about himself. Second, everyone has strengths and weaknesses, and there are positive and negative performance implications of any score. Third, focus on the overall themes of the report rather than any single detail. Although the report may seem to contain contradictions, this is the result of the report combining two perspectives: (a) what you see in an interview (HPI); and (b) what you see after prolonged exposure (HDS).

This report can be used in three ways. The report provides: (1) a snapshot of Mr. Score-Average's interpersonal performance; (2) a way to evaluate the fit between his values and those of an organization; and (3) a primer for thinking about performance improvement. Interpret his results in terms of his own career aspirations and goals rather than in absolute terms. A frequently asked question concerns “Can behavior change?” The “yes” response entails knowing what should be changed, deciding to make a change, and then knowing how to change. The information provided in this report will be helpful in this regard.

PERFORMANCE STRENGTHS

Personal Impact

Low keyed and seemingly relaxed, Mr. Score-Average will not mind letting others be in charge and generally will avoid the “political behavior” that is sometimes necessary to advance in an organization. Because he tends not to seek leadership roles, his career promotions most likely will be based on technical competence rather than maintaining a high profile within the organization. He appears friendly, outgoing, and approachable, but is willing to listen and let others talk.

Interpersonal Skill

Mr. Score-Average is a pleasant and tolerant person but one who will take a stand when necessary. He is reasonably playful and careful about procedures, but also is able to be flexible enough to change directions when necessary.

Working and Learning Style

Mr. Score-Average tends to be reflective and self-critical. As a result, he is usually vigilant regarding mistakes, concerned about being evaluated, responsive to coaching and feedback, and works in bursts of energy. These characteristics are useful in research activities, and as a stimulus to productivity and hard work. He is open minded and curious, but also takes a practical approach to problem solving. Mr. Score-Average seems uninterested in education or training for its own sake and, relative to most other people, is only moderately motivated by academic pursuits. This does not imply a lack of ability; rather, people with this characteristic are likely to see reading and learning as a means to an end rather than something intrinsically important.

VALUES AND DRIVERS

Achievement Motivation

Mr. Score-Average likes to strike a balance between working hard and playing hard and, although he respects traditional business manners and practices, he is also willing to change with the times. Mr. Score-Average seems appropriately interested in advancing his career, but also pays attention to the demands of career, family, and social life. He likes being noticed and enjoys having his achievements recognized—he is even willing to advertise them from time to time.

Social Interests

Mr. Score-Average seems equally happy working by himself or as part of a team. He enjoys meeting new people, but he also likes having time to himself. He likes people, but he doesn't need constant interaction. Mr. Score-Average enjoys assisting and developing others, especially those who need the most help. He helps others because it is the right thing to do. He also thinks it is important to pay attention to staff morale, communicate with staff regularly, ask them for feedback, and to encourage and support their efforts. He seems to prefer a balance between change and diversity on the one hand, and stability and uniformity on the other. He is neither liberal nor conservative in management style; he seems to have a natural preference for moderation and compromise. Mr. Score-Average values the lessons of the past but is willing to experiment for the future.

Entrepreneurial Values

Mr. Score-Average seems to have a sensible attitude toward money; although he appreciates its value, he is not preoccupied by compensation issues. He judges himself in part by income potential, but he also takes pride in family, friends, and leisure time activities. Mr. Score-Average prefers to minimize risk and uncertainty; he likes expectations to be spelled out and performance standards to be made explicit. He would rather be safe than sorry, which means that he will take few foolish chances, but he may also be reluctant to take the chances necessary to advance his career.

Decision Making Style

Mr. Score-Average seems to strike a balance between form and function in decision making. He wants equipment to look good but also to perform reliably and efficiently. He understands the trade off between elegant style and durable performance and uses it in making decisions. He seems willing to make decisions based on data and research as well as his own personal experience. Mr. Score-Average is comfortable with technology, but he is not interested in technological innovations for their own sake—he understands the uses of technology without being addicted to it.

CHALLENGES

Reactions to Others

Mr. Score-Average seems to be an energetic and enthusiastic person, but one who tends to be easily annoyed or disappointed with other people's performance. As a result, he may seem somewhat irritable, critical, and willing to give up on people or projects. He seems to be quite insightful about others' motives and intentions, but somewhat thin-skinned and easily offended. Under pressure, others may see him as mistrustful, uncooperative, or argumentative. Mr. Score-Average is a careful person who rarely makes silly mistakes. At the same time, however, he may be too careful and, as a result, may seem slow to act or make decisions, and reluctant to take any risks. Mr. Score-Average is a sturdy person who can stand up to criticism and adversity. Nonetheless, because he can be reserved, others may think he is aloof, detached, and unconcerned about their interests. Because he is so stoic, others may not know what is on his mind. He also dislikes being interrupted, is skeptical of others' competency, and possibly is hard to coach.

Personal Performance Expectations

Others may see Mr. Score-Average as rather modest and reluctant to speak up unless his opinion is explicitly solicited. He seems candid but somewhat reserved and careful to avoid what he sees as unnecessary risks. He seems somewhat hesitant to call attention to himself. Mr. Score-Average may be reluctant to put forward ideas that others may see as radical or different.

Reactions to Authority

Mr. Score-Average seems somewhat tolerant and flexible, but may be inconsistent in his standards for evaluating others' work, being sometimes too strict and other times too lenient. He seems attentive and cooperative, he likes consensus and dislikes controversy. On the other hand, he may seem reluctant to take a stand or make independent decisions and perhaps too eager to please his boss.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT

When Strengths Become Weaknesses; Feedback for Mr. Score-Average

Mr. Score-Average tends to be somewhat defensive and may take things personally. As such, periodically remind him to lighten up and perhaps even practice stress management. In view of his tendency to be somewhat passive in social settings, Mr. Score-Average would benefit from training (assertiveness and/or public speaking)--if needed for the current or future job--to enhance his willingness to speak up and take initiative. He should be reminded to talk regularly with his coworkers, to ask them questions, and seek their advice. The goal is to get Mr. Score-Average to achieve a balance between the social and technical aspects of work. Mr. Score-Average should anticipate others' expectations during interactions and respect their needs. He should be positive and remember that he can gain others' trust by being rewarding and honest in interactions with them. Remind him to be patient when others make mistakes--typically, others do not make errors on purpose. He should stay open to change and be flexible in uncertain situations. When making decisions, he should remember that he may never have all relevant information, but should still decide promptly. Work with him to prioritize work, keeping in mind that not every task requires equal effort or attention. There's a big picture for every organization--it is the strategy and vision for the business. Make sure Mr. Score-Average understands it, is able to talk about it, and can determine how his activities contribute to this larger picture. Because he is not particularly interested in traditional education, he should make an effort to read, to take advantage of training opportunities, and encourage others to do the same. He should identify his preferred modes of learning (e.g., videotapes, audio tapes, on-the-job, etc.) and incorporate these in his development planning process.

Dealing with Derailment Tendencies

- First, remember Mr. Score-Average's strengths--at his best, he is a cooperative, congenial person who works well as part of a team. He is good at resolving disputes and soothing ruffled feelings, and is a loyal supporter of good people and admirable causes.
- Second, remember that if he wants his staff to be loyal, then he must be loyal to them, even if that means sometimes annoying superiors.
- Third, when asked for an opinion, Mr. Score-Average should take his time, decide what he believes, and be prepared to defend his position when challenged.
- Fourth, although he dislikes conflict, there will be times when confrontation and disagreement are inevitable. In the long run, credibility depends on confronting in a tactful yet persistent manner.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

This report examines Mr./Ms. Doe's judgement and decision-making style by evaluating how he/she processes information, makes decisions, and typically reacts to feedback about his/her decisions. This page summarises his/her results across all sections of the report. The following pages provide more detailed results for each section.

INFORMATION PROCESSING STYLE | VERSATILE

How effectively does Mr./Ms. Doe process the information needed to make decisions?

In terms of information processing style, Mr./Ms. Doe seems to be versatile and capable of processing information efficiently in any environment to solve a wide range of people and technical problems.

Verbal level HIGH

Numerical Level HIGH

DECISION-MAKING TENDENCIES & STYLE | POLITICIAN

How does Mr./Ms. Doe naturally approach making decisions?

Mr./Ms. Doe's decision-making style resembles a Politician; he/she may try to maximise long-term rewards by making strategic decisions based on experience.

Threat vs. Reward REWARD-SEEKING

Tactical vs. Strategic STRATEGIC

Data vs. Intuitive INTUITIVE

REACTIONS TO FEEDBACK | RECEPTIVE

How does Mr./Ms. Doe typically react to feedback about his/her decisions?

Mr./Ms. Doe may react emotionally to bad news, but then focus once he/she calms down. People with similar tendencies tend to benefit from coaching because they are often motivated to change their behaviour and improve their performance.

Superficial vs. Genuine GENUINE

INTRODUCTION

The judgement of leaders is reflected in their decisions. Although leaders’ decisions determine the fate of their organisations, on average, half of their decisions will be wrong. Therefore, good judgement involves not only making good decisions, but also responding appropriately to bad ones. When confronted with the news that their decisions are wrong, some leaders blame others and/or deny they have made mistakes; other leaders seek feedback, learn from their mistakes, and avoid repeating them. How leaders react to feedback about their decisions reflects their coachability, a key element of both good judgement and career success.

Because bad decisions are so common and have serious consequences, it is essential to try to improve decision-making. Becoming aware of one’s decision-making style and becoming more coachable can help people make better decisions and correct bad ones more quickly. The Hogan Judgement Report provides feedback and developmental considerations to help people reach these goals.

This report describes decision-making style in terms of three components:

INFORMATION PROCESSING STYLE

People can be placed into one of four categories based on how they process the information needed to make decisions. Each of these groups has characteristic strengths and shortcomings in terms of solving problems and making decisions, primarily because the people in each group are interested in solving different kinds of problems:

| | | |
|----------------|---|--|
| HIGH VERBAL | <input type="checkbox"/> QUALITATIVE These individuals process verbal information more efficiently than numerical information. Because they often prefer to use words to interpret events and create emotional experiences, they tend to do well in areas such as communications, literature, philosophy, journalism, and advertising. | <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> VERSATILE These individuals efficiently process both numerical and verbal information. Because they can solve problems regardless of the topic area, they tend to do well in occupations requiring quick decisions across diverse topics. |
| AVERAGE VERBAL | <input type="checkbox"/> DELIBERATE These individuals take their time in processing both numerical and verbal information because they want to make good decisions based on a sound understanding of the facts. They tend to do well in occupations requiring carefully studied decisions based on a wide range of information. | <input type="checkbox"/> QUANTITATIVE These individuals process numerical information more efficiently than verbal information. Because they often like to identify patterns and rules in sets of numbers and predict outcomes, they tend to do well in areas such as finance, accounting, engineering, and IT. |
| | AVERAGE NUMERICAL | HIGH NUMERICAL |

Mr./Ms. Doe received high scores for processing both numerical and verbal information. People with similar scores are known as versatile information processors; they efficiently use both numerical and verbal information for decision-making purposes. They are often talented at making quantitative and qualitative decisions, and tend to do well in a number of fields. In general, versatile information processors are insightful about people issues as well as complex data-based problems.

NUMERICAL VS. VERBAL

Mr./Ms. Doe's information processing style is derived by combining his/her results on the numerical and verbal sections of the Hogan Judgement assessment.

DECISION-MAKING APPROACHES

Most people's business decisions reflect three unrelated approaches. Mr./Ms. Doe's pre-decision approaches are presented below:

Threat Avoidance 42%
Reward Seeking 58%

THREAT AVOIDANCE VS. REWARD SEEKING | REWARD-SEEKING

Some people make decisions based on a desire to avoid financial, legal, physical, and other threats; they focus on the negative side of the risk-reward equation and try to minimise their potential losses. Other people make decisions based on a desire to pursue all possible rewards. They are attracted to the positive side of the risk-reward equation and consistently try to maximise their gains.

CONSIDER: Explain your rationale for important decisions you plan to make, and see if others understand your perspective. Do they see the same opportunities? Are they as excited by the potential rewards as you are.

Pay attention to not only potential rewards, but also potential risks. You may benefit from mentioning and exploring some potential problems with decisions.

Tactical 17%
Strategic 83%

TACTICAL VS. STRATEGIC THINKING | STRATEGIC

Some people make decisions focusing on the immediate context and relevant details. They focus on short-term issues such as cost, implementation, and crisis management, and may be less concerned about larger strategic issues. Other people make decisions based on a future-oriented, big picture perspective. They focus on generating new possibilities, and may be less concerned about practical issues such as cost and implementation.

CONSIDER: Talk with people known for being able to execute and get things done. Pay attention to cost, implementation, and other immediate issues they consider when making decisions.

Recognise the importance of achieving small wins while pursuing higher-impact, larger goals. Posting small wins along the way may help others buy into your strategy.

Data-Driven 35%
Intuitive 65%

DATA-DRIVEN VS. INTUITIVE DECISIONS | INTUITIVE

Some people make decisions by carefully reviewing relevant data and other facts. They may also review their past decisions periodically to adjust them based on updated data. Other people are more intuitive in their approach; they often make decisions based on their past experience and move on.

CONSIDER: Make sure you can defend your intuitive decisions with logic and data in case you are asked to do so. Listen carefully when others present data that conflict with your experience-based conclusions.

Periodically reevaluate your important decisions, noting what worked and what you might have done differently. Not being willing to reflect on your previous decisions may prevent you from learning valuable lessons.

DECISION-MAKING STYLES

By combining scores across the three approaches to making decisions, we can describe a person's decision-making style. Each style is represented by an occupation best representing a combination of approaches to making business decisions. However, please note that these styles are representative of typical thinking styles, not indicators of likely vocational interests, preferences, or performance. Each decision-making style is characterised by its own set of strengths and challenges. In general, the eight styles and their typical decision-making approaches are defined as follows:

| AUDITORS | SURGEONS | STOCK TRADERS | DEFENSE ANALYSTS |
|--|--|---|---|
| Avoid threats using tactical data-based decisions | Make tactical experience-based decisions to avoid threats | Seek rewards by making tactical, data-based decisions | Use strategic, data-based decisions to avoid long-term threats |
| POLITICIANS | CHESS PLAYERS | PROMOTERS | INVESTORS |
| Seek long-term rewards using strategic, experience-based decisions | Defend against threats using strategic, experience-based decisions | Seek short-term rewards based on tactical, experience-based decisions | Maximise long-term rewards based on strategic, data-based decisions |

POLITICIAN

REWARD-SEEKING

STRATEGIC

INTUITIVE

Mr./Ms. Doe's decision-making approaches suggest he/she thinks like a Politician. Such people tend to:

- Remain alert for opportunities for future gains
- Make decisions to maximise their long-term competitive advantage
- Not worry about tactical implementation issues
- Prefer making quick decisions based on their experience and intuition
- Avoid detailed reviews of data and statistical trends
- Monitor important emerging trends
- Challenge authority and status quo thinking
- Encourage subordinates to test the limits
- Expect to succeed and be liked
- Exercise loose discipline when they are in charge

REACTIONS TO FEEDBACK

Most people respond to negative feedback about their decisions by relying on three unrelated tendencies. Mr./Ms. Doe's reactions to this feedback are presented below:

Defensive 64%
Cool-Headed 36%

DEFENSIVE VS. COOL-HEADED | DEFENSIVE

Some people respond emotionally to negative feedback by blaming external factors — other people, circumstances, timing, etc. — that are outside of their control. In short, they may project blame outwards. Other people respond to negative feedback by remaining cool-headed and calmly considering how they may have contributed to the bad decision.

CONSIDER: When people criticise your decisions, try to consider how the decisions might have been improved by focusing on the factors that you controlled. External factors are important, but spend time reflecting on what you could have done differently.

You may tend to respond emotionally to negative feedback. Be sure to compose yourself before responding or reacting.

Denial 27%
Acceptance 73%

DENIAL VS. ACCEPTANCE | ACCEPTANCE

Some people respond to negative feedback with denial and deflection. They may refuse to recognise the facts, ignore the feedback, reinterpret failure as success, or just want others to move on. In short, they may deny that there are problems. Other people respond to negative feedback by carefully considering the facts, directly addressing the failure, and interpreting negative feedback as a means to improve future decisions.

CONSIDER: Think about how you might use feedback to learn about what you did right, not just what you could do differently.

Consider when you might have been too accepting of feedback. Taking responsibility for factors you cannot control can be just as ineffective as not taking responsibility for factors you can control.

Superficial 18%
Genuine 82%

SUPERFICIAL VS. GENUINE ENGAGEMENT | GENUINE

Some people may appear willing to admit failure and listen to advice about how to make better decisions in the future, but may actually just be putting on an act to gain acceptance and approval. Such people may use superficial agreement as a way to avoid genuinely confronting their problems. Other people tend to more actively engage in the negative feedback about their bad decisions to find new solutions and make better decisions in the future.

CONSIDER: Think about times when your desire to improve your performance may have resulted in your acting on feedback that may not have been constructive.

Consider what you can do to better evaluate the quality of the post-decision feedback you receive.

REACTIONS TO FEEDBACK

DEFENSIVE

ACCEPTANCE

GENUINE

Mr./Ms. Doe's reactions to feedback about his/her decisions suggest that he/she may tend to:

- First react defensively and emotionally to negative feedback
- Initially blame other people and external factors for past mistakes
- Be willing to reflect on past mistakes once the initial storm has passed
- Be modest and straightforward in considering feedback
- Genuinely engage in feedback sessions
- Appear motivated to improve performance and change behaviour
- Benefit from coaching after the initial emotional reaction

OPENNESS TO FEEDBACK & COACHING

By combining scores across the three types of reactions to feedback, we can describe a person's overall openness to feedback and coaching. This is important because it concerns the challenges that Mr./Ms. Doe may face in developing and improving his/her business judgement through coaching. In general, people tend to fall into one of three categories of coachability, each with its own strengths and challenges:

RESISTANT

In response to feedback about bad decisions, feedback resistant individuals tend to blame others, deny their responsibility, and pretend to care about feedback without really engaging in it. However, such people are good at making hard decisions and standing by them.

NEUTRAL

People described as feedback neutral often seem moderately receptive to feedback, but may also sometimes struggle with tendencies to react poorly to bad news. Such individuals tend to demonstrate a balanced approach to feedback, neither resisting it entirely nor accepting responsibility for everything.

RECEPTIVE

In response to feedback about bad decisions, feedback receptive individuals tend to remain calm, thoughtfully analyse their missteps, and solicit advice about how to make better decisions. However, such people may also accept blame for other people's mistakes.

OPENNESS TO FEEDBACK & COACHING | RECEPTIVE

Mr./Ms. Doe's coachability score suggests he/she is generally receptive to feedback and coaching.

CONSIDER: Remember to express your emotions during feedback. Appropriate emotional displays let others know that the feedback is important and that you take it seriously.

Before you take blame for past mistakes, consider what roles you and others played. Focus on being receptive to feedback about your performance without taking blame for others' mistakes.

Consider whether you agree or disagree with each piece of feedback before you internalise it. Constructive disagreement and debate are often effective ways to find solutions for making better decisions in the future.

During feedback sessions, make sure to recognise what you did right as well as what you could have done better. Acknowledging successes provides a foundation upon which to make better decisions in the future.
